Hello to freedom seekers, hello to the people who are ready for freedom.

Iran 16/09/2023

USPA NEWS - This is an article based on my own personal research with many honorable and freedom-seeking people of Iran. This is a bitter and true story.

On September 16, 2022, one year ago, when the heartbreaking news spread that a 22-year-old girl had been arrested in Tehran, Iran, simply because a few strands of her hair were showing, she was detained by Iran's morality police and subjected to harassment and abuse inside a police car, ultimately leading to her death at the hands of the Iranian police.

Only God knows how many young people, children, women, and men have been killed by the dictatorial and totalitarian regime of Khamenei since September 16, 2022.

The number of casualties is very high, mostly consisting of young people, students, and many honorable individuals.

For example, you can search for the name "Sarina Esmaeilzade" on YouTube and see how she, a 16-year-old girl, passionately talks about love, salvation, life, hope, and freedom. I have no doubt that her wisdom surpassed that of many politicians in the world.

One of her very short videos, I'll share the link with you.

This courageous and freedom-seeking Iranian girl is no longer among us today, and it has been approximately 11 months since she was killed. All the evidence of the Iranian government subjecting her to severe violence and fatally shooting her during protests is still present.

Let's talk about another individual, a young man full of life aspirations named Mehrshad Shahidi, who was a talented chef and a joyful freedom-seeker.

Unfortunately, he too is no longer among us to share delicious meals and spread happiness among people in this world.

Certainly, watching the video will help you understand how the Khamenei regime has taken away so many promising young lives from us, and these young individuals are no longer among us today.

I agree that it's important to write not only about Kian Pirfalak, the 9-year-old boy who was tragically killed by the brutal Khamenei regime with a gunshot, but also about other similar heartbreaking stories.

Sometimes, for the sake of humanity, it's necessary to write and think about these bitter and sorrowful experiences and offer support.

Kian Pirfalak, the 9-year-old boy who had so many dreams but has now become a symbol of freedom.

In the final moments of his life, just before being killed by the oppressive forces of the Terrorism organization IRGC (Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps), he told his father, "Father, come with me to the streets once, and let's not be afraid so that I can have a better future in a free Iran."

Kian aspired to become an inventor. In the video linked below, you can clearly see his aspirations.

Lets talk about Khodanor Lejei Also

A 27-year-old man named Khodanour tragically lost his life in the prison yard. After being arrested, he was handcuffed to a pole by the oppressive forces of Khamenei's regime in the prison. Due to the scorching climate in the area and his severe thirst, he died because he was denied water. Despite his pleas and requests for a simple drink of water, no one would listen to him.

Or Mona Naqib, the 3-year-old girl who was tragically killed by the direct gunfire of Iran's oppressive forces?

There are many, many names of those who have been killed, so many that I can continue writing about them for another two days.

Nika Shakarami, Mohsen Shekari , Mohammad Mehdi Karami , Mohammad Hossein , Dr Aylar , Mehran Samak , Hadis Najafi , Sarina Saedi , Hamid Reza Rouhi , And Many many many more people who have killed by Iranian Dictatorship regime Since 363 Days After Mahsa Amini, And still the Iranian Regime is not accepted that they have killed Mahsa Amini , They killed all Subjected people to To prove that they didn't kill Mahsa Amini, this is more absurd than anything else.

In just two days, we'll mark the anniversary of Mahsa Amini's murder, and it's been a gruesome year since many innocent Iranian youth lost their lives, simply for having the most basic of demands.

They only wanted Iran's government to not be enemies with the United States, Europe, and Israel. They wanted to be like all the other countries in the world. They wanted to have the freedom to choose whether or not to wear the hijab. They wanted brands like McDonald's, KFC, Ford, Chevrolet, Nike, Adidas, and many reputable brands in their country. They wanted to be friends with the entire world. They wanted their government to realize their wish for friendship with all nations and politicians.

But where are they now?

Sadly, many of them are no longer with us. Despite all the government's extreme violence, which is evident even in some videos where government forces entered protesters' homes and killed them or in the brutal torture and execution of many in political prisons, like Javad Rouhi.

Many lives have been lost, and the struggle for justice and freedom continues.

In my opinion, the brave, freedom-seeking, compassionate, aware, and educated people of Iran are very close to freedom from this brutal regime led by Khamenei, the Islamic regime, and the terrorist group IRGC.

Because the Iranian regime demonstrated in the past year just how ruthless and dangerous it can be to the entire world.

Let's stand alongside the people of Iran and make a commitment, starting from September 16, 2023, on the anniversary of Mahsa Amini's murder and the one-year anniversary of the Iranian people's protests, to be the voice of the Iranian people.

Let's use social media or send emails to foreign affairs offices in the countries we are in, requesting their support for the Iranian people to free them from this terrifying regime. This is the best and most sacred help we can provide to the people imprisoned in the notorious Evin Prison under the management of Khamenei in the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Free Iran has the potential to be a very positive, happy, and prosperous country for all nations, as its people are highly intelligent, aware, kind, and good-hearted. But the theocratic regime in power shows no mercy, and a change in the Iranian regime will bring peace to the entire Middle East.

Let's help and be part of this bravery. Let's be the voice of the young people whom no one else but us can assist. The Iranian people have pledged to return to the streets from September 16, 2023. I ask you, after reading this article to the end, to try to spread news about Iran more after September 16, 2023, as this is the most significant action for a nation whose freedom is their right.

Thank you for reading my article and for taking the time. I hope for happiness, peace, and goodness for all humanity, especially in Iran,

Afghanistan, Sudan, Ukraine, and everywhere else.

With gratitude and best wishes,
Saman
